REPORT OF SCHOOL SUPERVISOR.

Fellow Citizens:—I am happy to congratulate you upon the general prosperity of our schools the past year. To be sure they have not attained that excellence to which we aim; but have made satisfactory improvement. No difficulties have occurred; everything has seemed to pass pleasantly. The average attendance has been in most of the schools large. In District No 4, fifteen scholars between the ages of seven and fifteen have been absent all of both terms, and those who did attend were very tardy. Unless these evils are corrected, time and money will be thrown away. By consulting the Table you will see the rank of the several schools in attendance.

The teachers have done very well in the way of instruction and discipline. Still the usefullness of some has been impaired by a want of enthusiasm and tact in teaching. Some have not kept their register as required by law. Let me name a few causes why our schools are not as flourishing as we would wish to have them:

1. Bad school houses. We build good barns for our cattle, and can we not afford to have decent school houses where our children are to spend several months of each year? Much can be done at little expense to make our school rooms pleasant and attractive.

2. Want of school apparatus. Every school room should be furnished with one good black-board, wall maps of some sort, a globe, thermometer, and a copy of Webster's Unabridged Dictionary. Some of our schools have a part, none alt of these helps.

- 3. Change of Teachers. "The frequent change in teachers is a most alarming evil with us. It breaks up all connection between one term and another. Each teacher has his own ways, and it takes some time to get out of the old ways and into the new, and quite a portion of each term is spent in getting started. It often happens that a term is one-third spent before the work is well begun. An ordinary teacher who has taught a school one term with fair success can do more for that school than one of superior endowments and acquirements who is an entire stranger to the wants of the school." Hence, employ the old teachers when we can.
- 4. Short Schools. Our schools are too short, and I know of no way to lengthen them unless we are willing to appropriate more money. If we must economize, let us do it without injury to our children.
- 5. Small Schools. Teachers understand how difficult it is to secure that interest in a small school that is easily secured in a large school. It seems to me that District No. 4 might be united with Nos. 3, 5, and 7, and great advantages result from it I would urge the inhabitants of this District to give this matter an earnest thought: I hardly see how any other of the small districts can be discontinued.

Finally, I think there is nothing our schools need more than the supervision of parents. They should visit their schools often and see and know what their children art doing and learning. This would also prevent most of the difficulties in our schools. Teachers would be stimulated to greater efforts, and scholars inspired with greater zeal in their studies and recitations. In conclusion let me say in the language of another, "as you prize your own happiness and the happiness of your children—as you love your country and your inheritance, the institutions transmitted from your fathers, and would have them perpetuated to your children, cherish carefully our system of public schools, to which we are more indebted than to anything else, except its foster mother the Gospel. It is the secret of our general intellig nce and pre-eminence, the glory of our country, the bulwark of our liberties, and the guaranty of our future prosperity. We can not value it too highly, we cannot sustain it too faithfully."
