At the commencement of the year we made an inventory of all the stock, produce, farming tools, household articles, groceries, etc., we found part of the stock in bad condition, one ox we had to kill and bury the carcass; one cow with hip broken down, giving no milk; and one cow with disease of the head, gave her milk to the hogs, could not cure her, we sold the two cows for $22 00.

We have bought one cow for the farm, have also added a new one horse farm wagon and rack, a new derrick, and a pair of steel dogs and chain. We find the farming tools, household furniture, beds and bedding in very good condition.

In taking a retrospective survey of our schools the past year, we find the quality of teaching has been much the same as the preceding year. In several schools much improvement is shown and in one failure. Giving the schools credit for all they have done, and are doing, it is admitted on all sides that something more is needed to make them what they might be, and therefore ought to be.

One important subject demanding our attention is the expenditure of the school money. Having spent nearly $3,000 the past year for schools, the inhabitants of Falmouth naturally demand a suitable return for their money. With the present district system, the town is providing ample means, but the districts fail in providing a suitable school room. The school room which is kept in good condition, and furnished with all needed apparatus, and which presents an air of neatness and cleanliness, has much influence in elevating the tone and improving the character of the pupils, while the opposite has a depressing and pernicious effect on the spirits of both pupils and teacher. It would be economy, and money well invested, even if taken from the school funds, to provide bright, cheerful rooms with better facilities, such as black-boards, maps, and globes. There are two buildings (No's. 9 and 11) utterly unfit for school purposes, and we hope to see them displaced by new ones or the districts united with 7 and 10. Many others sadly need cleaning or painting and white-washing. Think of sending children from a bright cheerful home surrounded by the comforts of life to a poorly ventilated comfortless room and ask why they dislike school, and are not interested. Too much care and attention cannot be given to this matter. It is a difficult thing to teach young people to respect property where the owners treat it with neglect.

Another matter to which I wish to call the attention of all interested in the welfare of children, and to urge immediate action, the need of instituting a reliable, systematic reform in our school work.

We find many scholars at the opening of the term go to school without knowing what they are to study, perhaps neglecting the more important and taking some branch they think may be interesting without considering whether it will be for their advantage, often delayed several weeks before a decision is reached. Let the town authorize the Supervisor, or better choose a committee, to prepare a regular course of study, one that will guarantee a good practical education, to be pursued in our schools to the exclusion of all others till this course is completed. The statutes provide that the Supervisor may regulate the studies in our common schools, but no one would be willing to take this matter of revision into his hands without the advice and consent of his fellow townsmen. Believing this to be a most practical need, in case the town system should fail, it is hoped you will give it your careful consideration.

Parents are the natural guardians of their children and are personally responsible for their education. Let the best teachers be employed, then let parents consider the teachers as helpers in their life work and give them their co-operation by sending the scholars regularly to school, and by letting their presence in the school room show their interest where it will be appreciated by scholars and teacher. Make common cause with the teacher of your children. Recognize the joint guardianship and the teacher will find the best aid in the counsel and encouragement of parents. See to it that the lessons of christianity and morality are not neglected; that the children are instructed here, as elsewhere, in their duties to God, their neighbors and their fellow-men, that characters forming now shall be strong, intelligent and virtuous. In all my labors one thing has cheered and made pleasant the cares and duties devolving upon me—the bright, happy faces of your children have greeted me, and in helping them in their efforts, I could not refrain from thinking of these words “As you prize your own happiness and the happiness of your children, as you love your country and your inheritance, the institutions transmitted from your fathers, and would have them perpetuated to your children, cherish carefully our system of common schools, to which we are more indebted than to anything else, except its foster mother, the Gospel. It is the secret of our general intelligence and pre-eminence, the glory of our country, the bulwark of our liberties, and the guaranty of our future prosperity. We cannot value it too highly, we cannot sustain it too faithfully.”
